AUTHOR'S BIOGRAPHY

Associate Professor Dr. Salih Mahdi Salman, obtained both bachelor's and master's degree of science in organic chemistry from the University of Baghdad and completed his Ph.D. at the University of Malaya under supervision of Associate Professor Thorsten Heidelberg and Hariul Anuar Tajuddin in 2013. Currently he is a lecturer at the department of chemistry, Faculty of Medicine, University of Diyala in Iraq. His interest area is organic synthesis.

When your manuscript be ready...There are three questions you should ask yourself while selecting a journal ?

- First, which journals count toward promotion?
- Second, do I want to publish in a general or a focused journal?
- Finally, which journals' requirements does my manuscript meet?

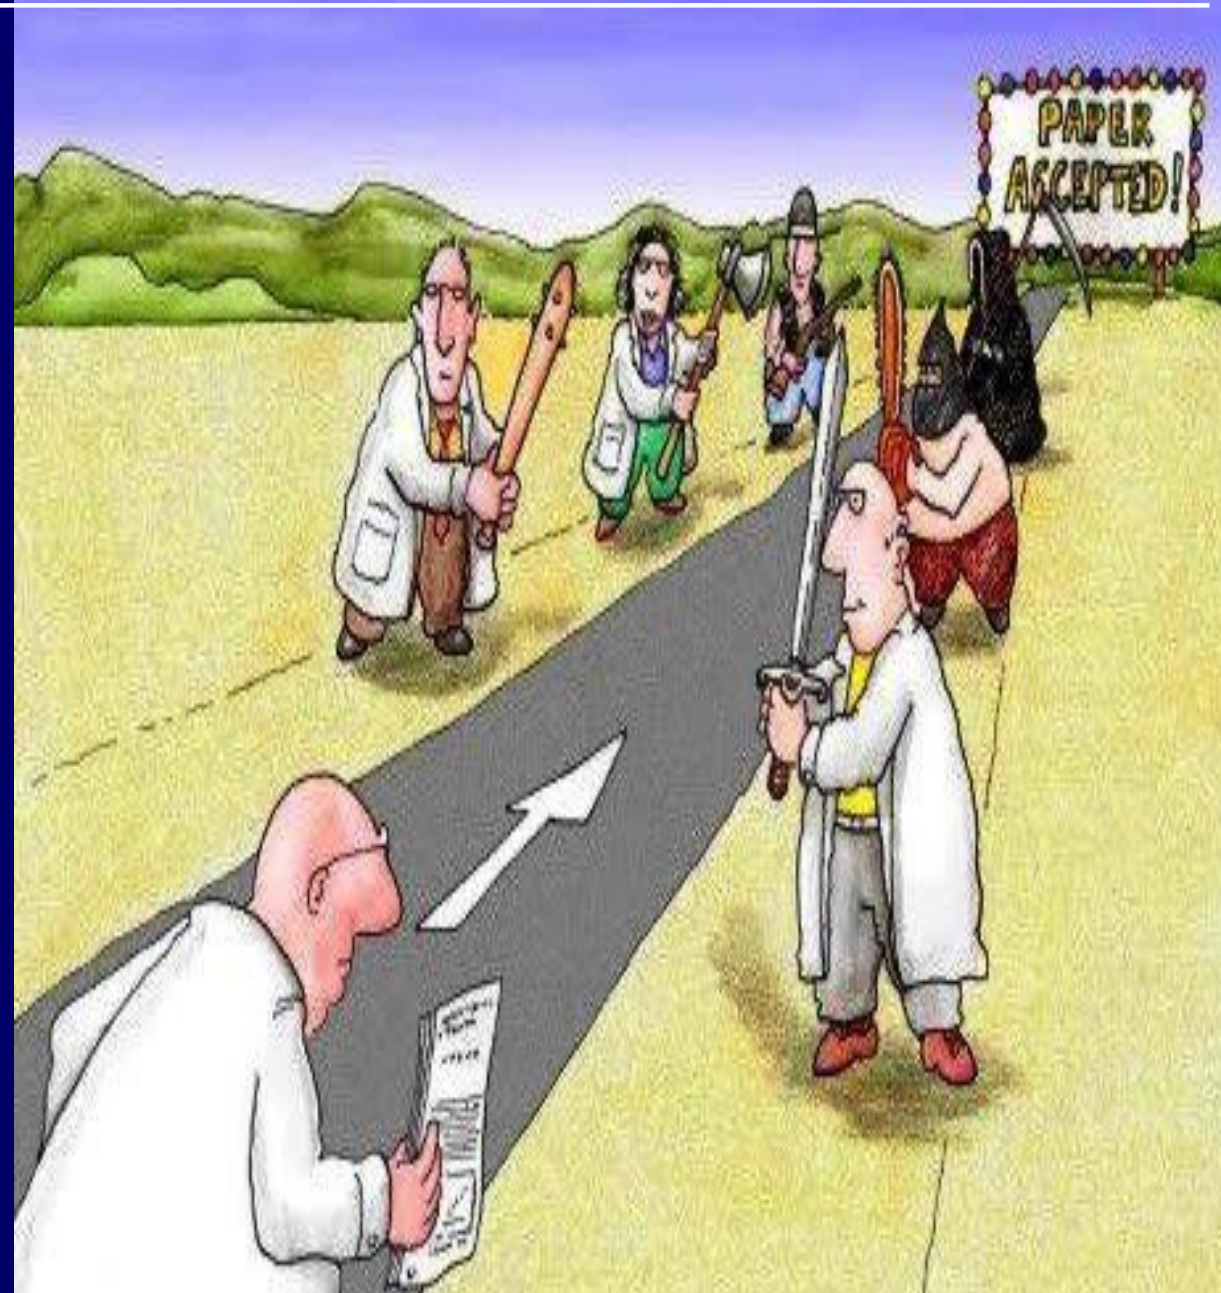

Where to Publish?

well known , highly valued by the authors , mentioned in conversation and at scientific presentations, sponsoring by Society. then the published material is likely to be seen, read, and acted on.

There's no point in conducting research and then publishing it in a journal that doesn't count. In fact, doing so may count against you because a committee may wonder why you are wasting time with an inferior journal.

- But, choosing the indexed journal for a manuscript can be a big challenging.
- Many factors are likely to influence the final decision.
- It is important to have a set of criteria by which the merits of a journal can be assessed.
- This maximizing the chance that the author's expectations will be met.

- If you already decided and chose to publish with an impact factor indexing journal.
- Let us share experiences to shorten the way and find the right journal.

What is SCOPUS

- Scopus is the largest abstract and citation database of peer-reviewed literature: scientific journals, books and conference proceedings.
- Delivering a comprehensive overview of the world's research output in the fields of science, technology, medicine, social sciences, and arts & humanities.
- Start with <https://www.scopus.com> to enter the database .

The screenshot shows the Scopus Preview website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Scopus logo, 'Preview' text, and links for 'Author search', 'Sources', 'Help', and a 'Register' button. A large grey banner reads 'Login required to access Scopus'. Below this, there are links for 'What is Scopus' and 'Blog', and a LinkedIn icon. The main content area is divided into three columns. The left column contains a login form with fields for 'Username' and 'Password', a 'Remember me' checkbox, and a 'Login' button. It also includes links for 'OpenAthens login', 'Other Institution login', and 'Apply for Remote Access', along with a 'Not Registered?' link and a 'Forgotten your username or password?' link. A note indicates that asterisks denote required fields. The middle column features a large heading 'Check out your free author profile!' and a small thumbnail of the author profile search interface. The right column features a large heading 'Looking for free journal rankings and metrics?' and a small thumbnail of the sources search interface.

CiteScore metrics for serials

CiteScore metrics from Scopus are comprehensive, transparent, current and free metrics for serial titles in Scopus. Search or browse below to find a source and see associated metrics. Use the annual metrics for reporting, and track the progress of 2017 metrics with CiteScore Tracker 2017. Be sure to use qualitative as well as the below quantitative inputs when presenting your research impact, and always use more than one metric for the quantitative part.
